Pump Up The Volume

Jozef Nuyens

“I moved here from Antwerp to go to college. Soon after, I bought the castle, which was built between 1929 and 1932. Al Capone stayed here frequently. I wanted a unique setting where artists could record. Castle Music Group became a recording studio, production company, and music publishing company. Johnny Cash, Neil Young, Bruce Springsteen, and Faith Hill have recorded here. In 2003, I co-founded PassAlong Networks, which has technology that allows artists to create and distribute digital music and other content. Some of its employees are also songwriters and musicians, and they’ve recorded here. Last year we recorded our investors singing a Christmas song. ...”
